Pope's Message

Dear brothers and sisters,

“Break forth together into songs of joy” (Is 52:9), cries the messenger of peace to those standing amid the ruins of a city in desperate need of rebuilding. Though dusty and wounded, his feet are beautiful, writes the prophet (cf. Is 52:7), because, along rugged and weary roads they have carried a glad announcement in which everything is reborn. A new day has dawned! We too are part of this new beginning, even if few as yet believe it: peace is real, and it is already among us.

“Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you” (Jn 14:27). Thus Jesus spoke to the disciples, whose feet he had just washed. They were to be messengers of peace, sent to journey tirelessly through the world to reveal to all the “power to become children of God” (Jn 1:12). Today, therefore, we are not only surprised by the peace that is already here; we also celebrate the way in which this gift has been given to us. In this “how,” in fact, shines the divine difference that causes us to break forth into songs of joy. For this reason, throughout the world, Christmas is a feast par excellence of music and song.

The prologue of the fourth Gospel is itself a hymn, with the Word of God as its protagonist. The “Word” is a word that acts. This is a hallmark of God's Word: it is never without effect. Indeed, many of our own words also have effects, sometimes unintended. Yes, words “act.” Yet here is the surprise that the Christmas liturgy presents to us: the Word of God appears but cannot speak. He comes to us as a newborn baby who can only cry and babble. “The Word became flesh” (Jn 1:14). Though he will grow and one day learn the language of his people, for now he speaks only through his simple, fragile presence. “Flesh” is the radical nakedness that, in Bethlehem as on Calvary, remains even without words – just as so many brothers and sisters, stripped of their dignity and reduced to silence, have no words today. Human flesh asks for care; it pleads for welcome and recognition; it seeks hands capable of tenderness and minds willing to listen; it longs for words of kindness.

“He came to what was his own, and his own people did not accept him. But to all who received him, who believed in his name, he gave power to become children of God” (Jn 1:11-12). This is the paradoxical way in which peace is already among us: God's gift invites us in; it seeks to be welcomed and, in turn, inspires our own self-giving. God surprises us because he leaves himself open to rejection. He also captivates us because he draws us away from indifference. Becoming children of God is a true power – one that remains buried so long as we keep our distance from the cry of children and the frailty of the elderly, from the helpless silence of victims and the resigned melancholy of those who do the evil they do not want.

To remind us of the joy of the Gospel, our beloved Pope Francis wrote: “Sometimes we are tempted to be that kind of Christian who keeps the Lord's wounds at arm's length. Yet Jesus wants us to touch human misery, to touch the suffering flesh of others. He hopes that we will stop looking for those personal or communal niches which shelter us from the maelstrom of human misfortune and instead enter into the reality of other people's lives and know the power of tenderness” (Evangelii Gaudium, 270).

Dear brothers and sisters, since the Word was made flesh, humanity now speaks, crying out with God's own desire to encounter us. The Word has pitched his fragile tent among us. How, then, can we not think of the tents in Gaza, exposed for weeks to rain, wind and cold; and of those of so many other refugees and displaced persons on every continent; or of the makeshift shelters of thousands of homeless people in our own cities? Fragile is the flesh of defenseless populations, tried by so many wars, ongoing or concluded, leaving behind rubble and open wounds. Fragile are the minds and lives of young people forced to take up arms, who on the front lines feel the senselessness of what is asked of them and the falsehoods that fill the pompous speeches of those who send them to their deaths.

When the fragility of others penetrates our hearts, when their pain shatters our rigid certainties, then peace has already begun. The peace of God is born from a newborn's cry that is welcomed, from weeping that is heard. It is born amidst ruins that call out for new forms of solidarity. It is born from dreams and visions that, like prophecies, reverse the course of history. Yes, all this exists, because Jesus is the Logos, the Meaning, from which everything has taken shape. "All things were made through him, and without him was not anything made that was made" (Jn 1:3). This mystery speaks to us from the nativity scenes we have built; it opens our eyes to a world in which the Word still resonates, "many times and in many ways" (cf. Heb 1:1), and still calls us to conversion.

To be sure, the Gospel does not hide the resistance of darkness to the light. It describes the path of the Word of God as a rugged road, strewn with obstacles. To this day, authentic messengers of peace follow the Word along this path, which ultimately reaches hearts – restless hearts that often desire the very thing they resist. In this way, Christmas gives fresh impetus to a missionary Church, urging her onto the paths that the Word of God has traced for her. We do not serve a domineering Word – too many of those already resound everywhere – but a presence that inspires goodness, knows its efficacy and does not claim a monopoly over it.

This is the way of mission: a path toward others. In God, every word is an addressed word; it is an invitation to conversation, a word never closed in on itself. This is the renewal that the Second Vatican Council promoted, which will bear fruit only if we walk together with the whole of humanity, never separating ourselves from it. The opposite is worldliness: to have oneself at the center. The movement of the Incarnation is a dynamics of conversation. There will be peace when our monologues are interrupted and, enriched by listening, we fall to our knees before the humanity of the other. In this, the Virgin Mary is the Mother of the Church, the Star of Evangelization, the Queen of Peace. In her, we understand that nothing is born from the display of force, and everything is reborn from the silent power of life welcomed.

Bishop's Message

Dear Rev. Fathers, Religious and People of God,

The New Year has just stepped in. Let us welcome the year with joy, hope and expectation. It is a precious from the hands of our loving Father in Heaven. We thank the Lord for this gift of this new year. I wish you all a prosperous and a Grace-filled New Year 2026 with the blessings of God. Many of our dear ones, friends, kith and kin were not given the chance of seeing this new year. God, in his kindness, has given us the opportunity to see this new year. We shall be grateful to the gift of this year. As the token of our gratitude, throughout the year 2026, let us give importance to our spiritual life, family prayers and personal prayers. If we give more time for personal prayer, you can rest assured that the year will be filled with God's blessings.

On the first of January, the Church celebrates the solemnity of Mary, Mother of God. First among the saints, she is the mother of Jesus and mother of the universe. The council of Ephesus (431) defined Mary as the Mother of God. As Elizabeth said, "Mary is the mother of my Lord (Luke 1:42)" She is also our mother because Jesus has made us sons and daughters of God. To all those who receive him, Jesus gives the power to become children of God (Jn 1:12). Thus, as children of God, we are brothers of Jesus, and his mother is our mother, too. Jesus clearly says from the cross, "She is your mother" (Jn 19:27).

As her children, we should learn from Mary the lessons of authentic Christian living. Mary teaches us both by example and word. Her prayerfulness, humility, surrender to God's will, obedience, love for Christ, love for neighbors, gratitude to God and her trust in Jesus are all shining examples for us to imitate.

As we begin the new year, let me take this opportunity to appreciate and thank you all wholeheartedly for all your pastoral ministry to your parishioners in the year 2025. In this new year, you may earnestly do the ministry. God's blessings are plenty for you.

May the new-born Christ bless you and your parishioners.

Yours devotedly in new-born Christ

Greetings from CMSSS

Dear fathers

IBC AWARENESS TRAINING PROGRAM

On November 25th, the IBC successfully conducted an awareness training program for the Narikuravar community at Thaneerpandal, near Avinashi. The session witnessed the participation of thirty women. The primary objective was to impart crucial awareness on the formation of a stable and harmonious family unit. The training elaborated on the essential requirements for a cohesive family life. A significant emphasis was placed on the critical importance of education. Participants were encouraged to consistently support their children's academic pursuits and motivate them to achieve success in life. The program was concluded with the distribution of essential items to the attending families to support their welfare. The initiative was received with positive engagement and is expected to contribute to the community's social development.

IBC CHILDREN PROGRAM

On November 26th, our team from IBC organized a special program at the local Gypsy community school. The one-hour event was designed to support the educational journey of the children. We began with a warm interaction session, engaging the students in meaningful conversation. This was followed by a series of fun and stimulating educational games, which the children participated in with great enthusiasm and joy. The highlight of the visit was the distribution of new school bags, a gesture aimed at encouraging their academic pursuits. The presence and support of the dedicated teachers were invaluable throughout. We extend our sincere gratitude to them and the program coordinators for their collaboration. The initiative was a rewarding experience, successfully blending encouragement with practical support for the young learners.

IBC AWARENESS PROGRAM: GOVERNMENT SCHEMES

A one-hour awareness program on Government Schemes was conducted by the IBC at our Pollachi Centre for residents of the Kollupuram region on November 25th.

The session introduced various government schemes, detailing the specific processes and application procedures for different age groups and families. Key topics included housing loans and the benefits available through specific government unions. The program concluded with a question-and-answer segment, which helped clarify participants' doubts.

Participants gained significant knowledge, particularly about housing loan eligibility and the privileges associated with joining government-led unions. The initiative was well-received and successfully enhanced community awareness of available government support.

IBC PROGRAM FOR SHGS STRENGTHENING

A one-hour program focused on the strengthening of Self-Help Groups (SHGs) was conducted for the women of the Ponnapuram region in Pollachi on November 25th.

The session involved a detailed discussion on strengthening their women's groups. Participants openly shared the pros and cons they experience within their groups. Practical ideas and effective strategies to confront these common problems were collectively explored.

The group leaders were actively motivated throughout the interaction. Their specific doubts regarding group management and conflict resolution were addressed and clarified. The program was successful in providing the leaders with actionable insights to enhance the stability and productivity of their SHGs. The participants expressed appreciation for the guidance received.

DOMESTIC WORKERS CLUSTER FORMATIONS

A significant initiative has been undertaken to form domestic workers' clusters across the regions of Avinashi, Coimbatore, Kinathukadavu, Anamalai, and Pollachi. The primary objective was to organize workers into small, manageable groups and introduce them to the schemes and benefits offered by the Domestic Workers Union.

Members were actively motivated to understand their rights and the advantages of collective representation, encouraging them to join the union. To ensure proper governance, leadership roles including President, Secretary, and Treasurer were elected from within each cluster.

This foundational step marks crucial progress toward formal unionization. All clusters are now scheduled to convene in a collective gathering in February to officially consolidate as a unified union. This paves the way for enhanced solidarity, stronger advocacy, and access to greater welfare benefits for all members involved.

IBC PROGRAM FOR NARIKURAVAR COMMUNITIES

The IBC program recently conducted a series of four outreach initiatives in Ponnapuram and Kinathukadavu, specifically targeting clusters of the Narikuravar community. The primary objective was to bridge the information gap by introducing the latest central and state government welfare schemes. A local government officer served as the resource person, effectively explaining the eligibility criteria and benefits of various schemes. Detailed pamphlets were distributed to individuals for future reference. Crucially, the sessions provided step-by-step guidance on the application methodology, empowering participants to access these benefits. The program proved highly useful for this marginalized group, directly benefiting the individuals by equipping them with the knowledge and tools to avail themselves of essential government support.

IBC ALCOHOLISM AWARENESS PROGRAM

The IBC program conducted a targeted awareness campaign on alcoholism for the Narikuravar communities in Kollupuram and Kinathukadavu. The session focused on educating families about the severe ill effects of alcoholism on health, finances, and social well-being. Resource persons provided crucial guidance on handling alcoholism, discussing practical strategies for prevention, seeking community support, and accessing professional de-addiction services. To ensure sustained awareness and action, informative pamphlets summarizing this information were distributed directly to households. This initiative was a vital intervention for these marginalized clusters, directly equipping families with knowledge to combat substance abuse and fostering a proactive approach to community health and stability. The program successfully engaged approximately 85 individuals across both locations.

IBC Women's SHG Initiative

The IBC program recently undertook a significant initiative to strengthen and form Women's Self-Help Groups (SHGs) across all seven Narikuravar clusters. Coordinators facilitated targeted programs designed to methodically propose and establish a structured group framework.

The sessions clearly outlined the operational structure of the SHGs, emphasizing their core principles of collective savings and credit. The pressing needs of the community and the tangible benefits of group membership—including access to micro-finance, enhanced financial literacy, and mutual support—were thoroughly explained.

This intervention has served as a strong motivating force within the Narikuravar community, successfully establishing multiple new SHGs. The initiative marks a foundational step towards economic empowerment and social cohesion, with plans to link these groups to broader banking and livelihood channels.

SHG Leaders Exposure Visit

Our self-help group leaders from the Pollachi region conducted an educational visit to a local small-scale factory. The purpose was to observe and learn critical skills for enterprise development. The factory owner provided a comprehensive demonstration, focusing on two key areas: essential technical skills for small-scale production and effective marketing strategies to reach customers. The leaders gained practical insights into streamlining operations and promoting products. The owner's dedication and the factory's success served as a powerful inspiration for the visiting SHG leaders, motivating them to apply these valuable lessons to strengthen their own collective enterprises. The visit was highly productive and enlightening.

A reverent Christmas celebration was held at CMSSS, graced by the presence of Most Reverend Bishop Thomas Aquinas. The ceremony commenced with a half-hour prayer service, followed by the blessing of the crib by His Excellency. The collective effort demonstrated excellent community spirit and business acumen. Special thanks are extended to all DLKF leaders and the coordinators of each Kolping family. Their diligent organization and unwavering support were instrumental in making this valuable initiative a significant success, strengthening both the economic capacity and cooperative bonds within our Kolping community.

To document the successful implementation of a skill development initiative under the Kolping BMZ Education Measures Project. A one-day vocational training program was conducted at Valparai on 16th December, focusing on low-cost skill enhancement for members. The workshop, attended by 25 participants, was led by resource person Mrs. Manju. The curriculum provided practical instruction in the production of wine and the preparation of cakes, offering valuable knowledge for potential micro-enterprise development. The session was well-received by the Kolping members of the Valparai region, equipping them with applicable skills to improve household income. The program concluded with a festive Christmas celebration, fostering community spirit. This intervention effectively supported the project's objective of promoting sustainable livelihoods through accessible education.

Motivational Training on Green Environment for DLKF Members

A motivational training program for DLKF members was successfully conducted at the CMSSS Animation Centre. The session, focused on fostering a green environment, was attended by approximately 20 participants. The resource person emphasized the critical care and concern required for our natural surroundings, linking environmental stewardship to personal and community progress in daily life. The importance of adopting sustainable practices was strongly highlighted, with the theme "No Plastic" serving as the central actionable message. Participants were engaged in discussions on practical measures to reduce plastic usage and promote ecological balance.

The training effectively motivated members to become proactive ambassadors for a greener community. The session concluded with a shared commitment to implement the discussed principles.

paper plate and candle manufacturing, highlighting innovative moulds and production techniques. Furthermore, he outlined essential marketing strategies for successful business initiation and growth.
